Prenatal Care and Delivery

Prenatal care at IGO is individualized for your specific pregnancy. The physicians and staff at IGO work with you and your family to assure the best possible pregnancy outcome. Your concerns are important to us.

Please call to schedule a New OB appointment after you have done a home pregnancy test. You will speak to an operator who will schedule a first appointment. This appointment is generally scheduled at 8-10 weeks of pregnancy, although this is individualized, depending on your pregnancy and medical history.

The number of prenatal visits differs depending on your pregnancy. Generally, you are seen once a month at the beginning of the pregnancy, every two weeks in the middle, and once a week at the end. We keep you informed about what tests are coming up and what is involved with each visit. Your family is invited to come to all the visits and ultrasound appointments but we ask that they be respectful of your privacy and our staff. Please be sure that someone is present to supervise young children during your visit.

At your first visit, we provide you with information and a pregnancy book. All aspects of prenatal care are covered in this information. Of course, you are always encouraged to ask questions.
